Miscellaneous.

Rude Women as Privileged Persons.

One class of privileged persons, accord- ing to the Saturday Review, is typified in the woman whose forte lies in saying un- pleasant things with praiseworthy coolness. She aims at a reputation for smartness or for honesty, according to the character of her intellect, and she uses what she gets without stint or sparing. If she is clever, she is noted for her sarcastic speeches and epigrammatic brilliance; and her mots are bandied about from one to the other of her friends, with an uneasy sense, howev- er, in the laughter they excite. For every one feels that he who laughs to-day may have cause to wince to-morrow, and that dancing on one's own grave is by no means an exhilarating exercise. No one is safe with her, not even her nearest and dear- est; and she does not care how deeply she is about it. But her victims rarely retali- ate which is the oddest part of the busi- ness. They resign themselves meekly enough to the scalpel, and comfort them- selves with the reflection that it is only pretty Fanny's way, and that she is known to all the world as a privileged person, who may say what she likes.

It falls hard, though, on the uninitia- ted and sensitive, when they are first in- troduced to a privileged person with a talent for saying smart things, and no pity to speak of. Perhaps they have learned their manners too well to retort in kind, if even they are able, and so feel themselves constrained to bear the unexpected smart, as the Spartan boy did his fox. One sees them at times endure their humiliation be- fore folks with a courageous kind of stoicism which would do honor to a better cause. Perhaps they are too much taken aback to be able mar- shal their wits for a serviceable counter- thrust; all they can do is to look con- fused and feel angry; but some- times, if seldom, the privileged per- son with a talent for sarcastic sayings meets with her match and gets paid off in her own coin, which greatly offends her, while it rejoices those of her friends who have suffered many things at her hands before. If she is rude in a more sledge hammer way, rude through what it pleases her to call honesty and the privilege of speaking her mind—her attacks are easier to meet, as being more openly made and less dependent on quickness or subtlety of intellect to parry. Sometimes, indeed, by their very coarseness they defeated them- selves.

Mystery.

In loveliness of form or of moral char- acter, or of the material creation, it is that which is most veiled which is most beautiful. The mysteries of the heart and of nature are the delight of the intellect, the soul and the eyes. It seems as if the Creator had drawn a shadow over whatever He has made most delicate and most di- vine, to heighten by its secrecy, our apira- tion after it, and to soften its lustre from our gaze, in the same manner he ashas placed lids over our eyes to temper the light when its impression is too great up- on them. Valleys are the mysteries of landscapes; the more we long to penetrate them, the more they try to wind and bury and hide themselves. Mist is to a moun- tain what illusion is to love—it elevates them. Mystery hovers over every- thing here below and solemnizes all things to the heart.

A Rich Grammatical Decision.

The New York Tribune decides that the plural of "titmouse" is "titmouses," and not "titmice." "On the same principle," says another paper, "the plural of a tailor's 'goose' is 'gooses,'" as indeed we hold that it is.

This reminds us of an anecdote in re- gard to a country merchant who wanted two of these tailor's irons several years ago, and ordered them from Messrs. Dunn & Spencer, hardware merchants, then do- ing business in this city. He first wrote this order: "Please send me two tailor's gooses." Thinking that this was bad grammar, he destroyed it and wrote this one: "Please send me two tailor's geese."

Upon reflection he destroyed this one also for fear he would receive live geese. He thought over the matter until he was very much worried, and at last in a mo- ment of desperation, he seized his pen and wrote the following, which was duly mail- ed: "Messrs. Dunn & Spencer: Please send me one tailor's goose, and d—n it, 'send me another'" This was the only way he knew of to order two of them; but of course he had not read the above wise decision then.—Petersburg (Va.) Courier.

We once knew a merchant who wanted a dozen of the same articles, and got over the difficulty by ordering "one tailor's goose," and immediately under it "eleven ditto."—Atlanta Constitution.

How to Act in Case of Poisoning.

The Journal of Health says: Whatever is done must be done quickly. The in- stant a person is known to have taken poi- son by design or accident, give to drink, cold or warm, as fast as possible, a gallon or more of water, at a time, and as fast as vomited drink more; tepid water is the best, as it opens the pores of the skin and promotes vomiting, and thus gives the speediest cure to the poisonous article. If pains begin to be felt in the bowels, it shows at least part of the poison has pass- ed downward; then large and repeated in- jections of tepid water should be given, the object in both cases being to dilute the poison as quickly as possible. Do not wait for water

The Huntingdon Journal.

J. R. DURBORROW, - - - - - EDITOR

HUNTINGDON, PENN'A.

Wednesday Morning, May 17, 1871.

☞The Border Raid Bill has been slaughtered. The House refused to concur in the Senate amendments and then refused to appoint a Committee of Conference and the Bill went by the board.

☞It was to be expected that the Harrisburg Patriot would copy Gen. Sherman's last speech, in which he asserts that he has been misrepresented, several times, italicising the prominent points, as it did a week or so ago. "One good turn deserves another." We presume that the Patriot claims that no mistakes are made at that Bank!

BLAIR COUNTY.—The Republicans of Blair county held their convention on Tuesday of last week, and adopted a resolution declaring that John Dean, Esq., of Hollidaysburg, is their choice for President Judge. The following ticket was nominated; Assembly, B. L. Hewit; Register and Recorder, David M. Jones; District Attorney, Milton Alexander; Commissioner, Samuel Morrow; Surveyor, James L. Gwin; Director of Poor, James M. Johnston; Auditor, J. J. Nosker. Resolutions were adopted indorsing the national and State administrations, and commending the action of the legislature on the apportionment bill.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY!—At least eight hundred of our subscribers to pay up to the 1st of January, 1872. We do not want to charge you $2 50 a year for the JOURNAL, because if we ask you to pay these figures you will growl like a bear with a sore head. Pay up, then, and you will only be charged advance rates. $2 00 will pay for the JOURNAL from the 1st of January, 1871, to 1st of January, 1872, until the 1st of July, after that date, according to our terms, you will pay $2 50. Will you allow us to add 25 per cent. additional, or will you pay up? By making payment you can save 50 cents. You are foolish if you do not do it

☞The Connecticut Senate, on the 11th inst., passed resolutions declaring Marshall Jewell and the other Republican candidates for State offices elected. Of the absolute justice of this decision there can be no manner of doubt. The proofs of fraud were complete and overwhelming, five hundred and seventy-nine citizens of the Fourth ward of New Haven, having sworn before the Committee on canvass of votes that they deposited their ballots for Jewell, whose vote as returned was exactly one hundred less than that number. The resolutions passed by a strict party vote. The exposure of these frauds, and the correction of the wrong which grew out of them, reflect great credit on the little Nutmeg State, for if we cannot have honest and impartial elections the ballot becomes a mockery and citizenship a farce.

THE MILITIA.

There is certainly not sufficient military spirit abroad. Every county should have several military organizations. The following letter written by Adjutant General Russell to Major General Beaver, of Center county, explains itself. It says:

Our Commonwealth imperatively requires, within her own borders, a well equipped and organized militia. Were anything else wanting, events which have transpired within the last few days clearly demonstrate this necessity. Her community of interests and the business enterprises of her people have come to be such, that a serious riot, in any locality, awakens general apprehension, as no single important business pursuit can be thus even temporarily disturbed without injuriously affecting others.

Our Company organizations should, therefore, be increased, numerically, to the maximum, and each Batallion and Regiment filled to its proper standard.

I am directed, by the Commander in Chief, to call the attention of Major Generals and Brigade Commanders to this important subject and to request their active and earnest efforts to effect this desirable result. We have inexhaustable military material, and the proper spirit animates our people to accomplish the organization of an efficient Volunteer force.

The Major Generals and Brigade Commanders of the National Guard, are, without exception, officers of intelligence and military experience. Her Line officers, too, have generally, seen active service, and it cannot be questioned that their zealous co-operation would create a State Military power which would reflect credit upon themselves and honor on the Commonwealth.

This subject is, earnestly, submitted to your consideration.

Joint High Commission.

The Joint High Commission completed its labors on the 8th inst., and the treaty formed was submitted to the Senate on the 10th. The New York Tribune gives the substance of it as follows, viz:

First, there are to be two Boards of Arbitration or Commissions. To one will be referred the Alabama and other similar claims, which are recognized as national, and to be settled on the principle of responsibility for such depredations where the Government has not exercised the utmost diligence and possible precaution to prevent privateers being fitted out in its ports to prey upon the commerce of a power with whom it was at peace.

The other Board is to take cognizance of miscellaneous claims, both British and American, confined principally to the periods from the commencement to the close of our late civil war. Among these are the St. Albans claims for damage to property in that town by Canadians; but no claims for the Fenian invasion of Canada are to be admitted. As to the claims of British subjects for seizures of their cotton, Great Britain, through its Commissioners, does not recognize them in cases where such subjects took up their domiciles in the South, as thereby they subjected themselves to all risks and contingencies of war. All legitimate claims for cotton will, however, be considered. It has been reported, without warrant, that they will amount to thirteen or more millions; but this is considered to be a great exaggeration. They will not, probably, amount to a million of dollars. There will be no difficulty in ascertaining all the particulars, as the Treasury Department has dates of all the seizures of cotton, the names of the owners thereof, and the particulars concerning the seizures. The Government is aware that a full list of British claims was recently published in that country, but it also has information that many of them have already been adjusted, while others will not come within the provisions of the Treaty. Among the claims which will also come before this Board will be that of our Government growing out of the purchase of saltpetre in the East Indies during the war and which was seized by the British authorities. There are other miscellaneous claims which will come before the second Board.

The San Juan question will be referred to the arbitration of a friendly sovereign—probably the Emperor of Brazil. From the character of the documents accompanying the Treaty, it is inferred that the decison cannot fail to be in favor of the United States.

The Treaty provides for the free navigation of the St. Lawrence River by the vessels of the United States, and for the use of the Canadian canal on the payment of the regular tolls. There are also provisions regulating the privilege to fish in Canadian waters, but these have not been ascertained with sufficient accuracy to justify a statement of them.

The only doubt in the above statement is as to whether there is to be only one or two boards; but it is certain the Alabama and kindred claims are to be considered separately from the other claims.

Since the above was copied the text of treaty has been published, and the Tribune of the 11th says:

The semi-official announcement of the purport of the Treaty of Washington, which was furnished by the Department of State to a Washington paper and thence telegraphed over the country, was lacking, upon several essential points, in that fullness of statement which the public has a right to expect in a matter of such supreme importance. The Sovereigns to whom was delegated the duty of appointing the majority of the Board of Arbitration were not indicated in this abstract, and public opinion imperatively demanded to be informed whether they were of families connected in sympathies or in dynasty with the royal family of Great Britain. The expression of regret by the British Government for the Alabama outrages was referred to in terms too vague and general to satisfy the susceptibilities of the country, which insisted upon a frank and positive acknowledgment. We were informed that the Treaty established special rules of neutral duty and obligation in addition to the generally received public law, with a retractive application to the events complained of by the United States, but we were given no intimation as to the exact extent and scope of these special rules. We could not tell except by inference, whether by the acceptance of these new interpretations of international law we had lost or gained in regard to our future freedom and security in case of foreign wars. The extent to which the Convention opened a path for the claims of British subjects to offset ours was also involved in some doubt.

The Coal Miners' Riot.

Latest from the Seat of War—Efforts Making to Compromise the Difficulties—A Raid on the Welsh Threatened.

NEW YORK, May 10.—A special from Scranton, Pa., at a late hour last night, says: The sum total of the affair is three men seriously wounded, and two women hurt. The Mayor of the city and the agents of the companies were on the ground soon after the main fight was over. There is no sign of another immediate outbreak. But if the laborers insist on resuming work more riots are expected. The actual strength of the movement that has been agitated among the laborers the last few days is not sufficient to warrant any desirable results. The city is much excited over the affair, and the authorities are on the watch for further movements. News of a more peaceful nature has been received from the Delaware and Hudson Companies. The men and their delegates waited on Mr. Weston, Superintendent, this afternoon, and made the following proposition: That all men enter the mines without the stated prices, and submit the question of wages to arbitration. The empire is to be chosen before the resumption takes place. Mr. Weston immediately telegraphed to Mr. Dickson, who is in New York, and an answer is expected to-morrow. The delegates are confident that their proposition will be accepted, Mr. Dickson having only suggested an arbitration at the former interview with him, but repudiated the settlement on the basis of the diamond car, and choosing the top vein of the Carbondale as his standard, thus indicating propably his intention of acting independently of the Delaware and Lackawanna and the Western Company.

One of the wounded men is not expected to live. Through the night rumors were rife that a raid will be made before morning on the Welsh of Park Hill. Everybody there is arming in self-defense, and the military have been sent over to the Hampton mines to-night.

THE BODIES OF THREE MURDERED LABORERS FOUND—MEETING OF THE IRISH MINERS AND LABORERS—RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

SCRANTON, PA., May 10.—The bodies of three murdered laborers were found this morning in a swamp near Biggs' shaft. During the riot yesterday, when the laborers were routed, they fled into this swamp, followed by the infuriated miners, where these three men were beaten and kicked to death. Irish miners and laborers held a meeting last night and passed the following resolutions:

Whereas, We, the Irish citizens in the employ of the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad Company, have been maltreated in an attempt to follow our lawful pursuits; therefore be it

Resolved, That the cowardly and dastardly assault of to-day is nothing short of premeditated assassination of Irishmen.

Resolved, That we condemn the action of the Mayor in not sending aid to us after due notice being given him by the committee who were sent to apprise him of human blood.

Resolved, That we, Irishmen, laborers and miners throughout this district, disperse and stand aloof from having any connection respecting union and fraternity with Welshmen in the future.

Resolved, That we, Irish miners, do pledge ourselves to go in their movement.

Resolved, That we get our names enrolled and resume work with them as soon as the company is prepared for work.

Resolved, That we in future band ourselves together and be prepared for any further assault.

Resolved, That we call on all good citizens, Americans, Germans, Scotch and others, to join with us in our present endeavor to protect ourselves, homes, families, industry and labor, and that we all participate in friendly greetings and try to eke out a sustenance in spite of the assassins of to-day.

It was heart-ending to hear the recital of several members who only escaped with their lives, which was corrobated by forty men. Martin McDonnell, who was taken home in a wagoni and who was then in a dying condition says: I made my way to a clump of trees. I was followed and overtaken by seven men who called out, "You Irish son of a b—h." Seven men struck me with billies and left me insensible. One brute afterward came back and raised me up and asked me could I walk? I tried to get on my knees. As soon as he saw I was so strong he kicked me on the mouth and ear. I knew not what became of me until I found myself at home surrounded by friends.

Connecticut.

The Legislature in Session—A Resolution Declaring Jewell Elected Introduced in the House.

HARTFORD, May 10.—the Legislature convened at two o'clock, this afternoon.—At the House the Committee on Canvass of Votes reported Marshall Jewell elected Governor by eighty-six majority, and also declared the election of other Republican State officers. A resolution declaring Jewell elected is now being debated. The Senate passed upon the same important business, and took a recess to await the action of the House of Representatives.—The hall is crowded with spectators to hear the debate.

HARTFORD, May 10.—In the House this evening debate on the resolution declaring the election of Jewell was continued. The resolution passed at 9:45 o'clock by a vote of 123 to 100—a strict party vote. Seventeen members were absent or not voting. Resolutions declaring the Republican candidates for other State offices elected were all passed and the House adjourned. The Senate will take up the resolutions to-morrow at ten o'clock and pass them. Governor Jewell and other officers will take the oath of office as soon as officially notified, and Governor Jewell will communicate his message to the Legislature on Tuesday next, and arrangements for public inauguration ceremonies and parade on that day will be made.

Legal Shysters.

Judge Bedford, of the city court of N. Y. a few weeks ago, delivered a charge to the grand jury, sworn for the general sessions, that is worthy of special commendation, and which, if carried out, may do much to rid the profession of these disreputable parasites that now infest it. We make the following extract:

"Before we separate, I deem it my duty to direct your attenten to a growing evil, and one in which I find myself deeply interested, for it reflects directly upon the legal profession—a profession which I love and honor. I have reference to the many misdeeds perpetrated every day by the dishonest and unprincipaled members of the bar; but, thank God! these members are greatly in the minority. Nothing more richly deserves the universal scorn and contempt of mankind than do the disreputable acts of the dishonest lawyer. I look upon the legal profession as I do upon a splendid garden filled with the choicest flowers, where some are even more beautiful than others; and yet in the midst of all this beauty and cultivation one sometimes finds a rank, unwholesome weed. As it is the duty of the faithful gardener to uproot the weeds so that the flowers may longer retain their life and loveliness, and not be contaminated or withered by the blighting influence of the noxious poison, so, in like manner, do I hold it to be the duty of the authorities to throw from the ranks of the profession those who, by their professional acts and conduct, degrade and dishonor it.—Legal Opinion.

Hon. Thomas A. Scott.

The Oil City Times contains the following article upon the Hon. Thomas A. Scott, paying him a very high compliment, which is very thoroughly deserved:

Hon. Thomas A. Scott, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, has rendered more essential service to the nation than any other railroad man now living. During the darkest hours of the rebellion it was the custom of the Government to telegraph him to move an army at an hour's notice, to have transportations, and to place an army of fifty thousand men, say hundreds of miles distan, at the very shortest notice. President Lincoln used to say that there was no man in the world could move an army a great distance in so short a space of time as the Hon. Thomas A. Scott, at that time he was Assistant Secretary of War, and even after he had withdrawn from that position he was ever on had at the call of his own State or the nation. And the country has cause to congratulate herself that the great enterprise of the Northern Pacific Railroad has secured his invaluable services to act as one of her officers—as it simply means success when he moves in any great public improvement. His standing to-day in commercial, mercantile and railroad circles is without a rival as a man of most transcendant ability and forecast, and his great achievement, the completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad, will scarcely rank secondly in the point of improvements of the present day. Long may he live to enjoy the blessings of this great Government that he has done so much toward sustaining.

☞Mr. Frederick Douglas, by request of the President, and of the Commissioners themselves, made one of the San Domingo investigation party, and though tinged with African blood, being a gentleman of culture and of unexceptionable habits and manners, was treated in all respects as an equal by the whole party. Nay, more, on the entire expedition, both on ship board and in every port at which they touched, Mr. Douglas was treated with as much deference and respect as any member of the party, until reaching the United States, on the return trip. At Weldon, North Carolina, Mr. Douglas was refused permission to sit at the breakfast table, but the Commissioners took such a decided stand in the matter that the dispenser of "hog and hominy" had to relent. And on the one-horse steamer which brought the party up the Potomac, from Aquia Creek, to Washington, he was also denied the privilege of the dinner table, for which indignity the Commissioners and other members of the party withdrew from the cabin. It is about time for such petty perjudices to "play out" in this country, and if all white travelers would as promptly and unequivocally express their sentiments upon the subject, as the distinguished gentlemen composing the San Domingo Commission did, it would soon do so. Fred. Douglas still lives, and we trust that he may continue to do so, until, both in the United States, and throughout the world, man shall be judged, not from the color of his skin nor the texture of his coat, but by his own individual proper behavior and moral worth.—Beacon.

The right of women to vote is to be tested in the courts of Washington by a few of the ladies of the city who were refused the exercise of the elective franchise at the late Territorial election. It is understood that the case will eventually be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States, and a decision will be looked for within a year. The ladies claim that they are entitled to vote under the 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution. Test cases, upon the same grounds, will probably come up from other sections of the country. The movement is preconcerted and has fight in it as Victoria Woodhull is at the head of it, and she always means business.

Those who look rather coldly upon Canada will be perhaps astonished to hear that she is the fourth maritime power in the world, and has 7,591 ships, with a tonnage of 899,090 tons. She is ahead of every nation except Great Britain, the United States and France.

News Summary.

The apportionment bill has become a law through the failure of Governor Geary to return it within ten days after its passage, as required by the constitution.

Gen Meade is to preside over the next meeting of the Army of the Potomac, to be held at Boston, on the 17th inst. The President will be there.

The women of Georgia have collected nearly $3000 for the proposed monument to the late Robert E. Lee. The whole amount raised for the purpose in the South thus far is said to be not far from $20,000.

Charles W. Brooke, Esq., one of Philadelphia's ablest and most distinguished lawyers, has removed to New York city to practice his profession, and we have no doubt he will take a front rank in that city.

Carl Schurz has notified the Democracy of St. Louis they cannot use him as a means to secure their success. Whatever he does for principle he intends to do within the ranks of the Republican party.

Gov. Geary has appointed Hon. James A. Logan President Judge of the Tenth Judicial District, composed of Wesmoreland, Indiana and Armstrong counties, vice Hon. Joseph Buffington, resigned.

Louis Napoleon is hard at work at Chiselhurst paying old debts. There is something good about him after all, or he would do like a good many kings before him, and manage to forget such small matters as little bills.

At the late municipal elections in Indiana the Republicans carried the cities of Terre Haute, Lafayette, Shelbyville, Logansport and Greencastle, which are usually Democratic. The Democrats made a gain of Columbus.

The Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives have reported affirmatively Mr. Strang's joint resolution appropriating $5,000 towards paying the expenses of the commissioners appointed by the President from every State to make preparations for the Centennial Celebration.

The youngest son of General Belknap, Secretary of War, died on Monday in Cincinati. But a few months ago the accomplished wife of the Secretary was taken from him by death. Human sympathy in afflictions of this kind is weak, for none but the husband and father can feel the loss in its terrible reality.

Dr. Livingstone again. Earl Granville announced in the House of Lords that the government had recived official despatches confirming the safety of Dr. Livingstone, the African traveller, and giving assurance that his immediate wants had been provided for. This is indeed good news.

The recent explorations in Jerusalem have excited great interest among the masonic fraternity, on account of the discovery of what are believed to be "Masons' marks" on considerable number of the immense foundation stones recently uncovered under the debris of the Temple.

The first arrest under the new Enforcement law was made in North Carolina on Friday last. The charge is that of assaulting and maltreating negroes, the guilty persons being three young men known as disreputable characters. They were not disguised while committing the offense—a singular violation of Ku-Klux customs.

The Maryland Democracy hold their convention to nominate candidates for Governor and other Sate officers on July 16. Under the fifteenth amendment there are strong hopes of carrying Maryland before long, and next fall we expect to see a vigorous campaign, which will prepare the State for falling into line in 1872.

The Southern Republicans say that the Ku Klux game now is to keep very quiet till a month before the Presidential election, and then to scare the colored voters from the polls by a short but effective reign of terror. It is probable, however, that there will be some hindrance to the working of this plan in the way of an extension of the provisions of the Ku Klux bill.

Notices of the Press.

No more delightful travels are printed in the English language than appear perpetually in Harpers Magazine. They are read with equal interest and satisfaction by boys of every grade from eighteen to eighty. Its scientific papers, while sufficiently profound to demand the attention of the learned, are yet admirably adapted to the popular understanding, and designed as much to diffuse correct information concerning current scientific discovery as it could be if it was the organ of the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge." The great design of Harper's is to give correct information and rational amusement to the great masses of the people. There are few intelligent American families in which Harper's Magazine would not be an appreciated and highly-welcome guest. There is no monthly Magazine an intelligent reading family can less afford to be without. Many Magazines are accumulated. Harper's is edited. There is not a Magazine that is printed which shows more intelligent pains expended on its articles and mechanical execution. There is not a cheaper Magazine published. There is not, confessedly, a more popular Magazine in the world.—New England Homestead.

Huntingdon & Broad Top Railroad.—This road of late is becoming one among the most important of the State. The first object of building it was principally for an outlet from the vast coal fields of Broad Top. This alone has made it of considerable importance, and will finally be a success, as there is now about as much coal being shipped over it as any other road in the Union. But it, like other roads has planted the seed of enterprise, and the result is, business of all kinds is fast springing up along its route, making trade for the road and saving money for the communities through which it passes.

At present it extends from Huntingdon to Mt. Dallas, a distance of about 44 miles, but is under construction to Bedford, a distance of eight miles, and from thence to Bridgeport, about twenty-four miles, making altogether about eighty miles. When the road is completed it will form one of the best lines for traveling South and Westward in the State, making a direct and continuous line to Pittsburg. We cannot boast of the fatness of the land through which it passes as the geographical location of the better portion of the country was not suitable for a railroad, hence it was shifted to a more suitable location, which happened on a whole, to be the poorest part of the country until it gets in the vicinity of Bedford, where it strikes through better land; but to those of a cultivated taste, and who admire natural scenery, there is everything to instruct and please. The fact is there are few roads that can boast of more beautiful scenery. There is something to suit almost every taste, mountains and hills, rocks and rills, rivers and bridges, and almost every thing else except "breakdowns," which have occurred so seldom that such a thing a bridge breaking, a trestle tumbling to a side, or the iron horse running off the track is never thought of. The perfect safety that now attends this road is due to Mr. John M'Killips, the present Superintendent. As an evidence of his perfect confidence in the safety of the road, he is found aboard almost every train. It is true that while so beautifully sailing through the air, over a ravine or across the river, some chicken hearted souls wriggle and twist and scream a little, but that is owing to a natural weakness of such creatures who always cry in the absence of danger. Such persons lose the best part of the ride, as those places are undoubtedly the safest part of the road, no accident having occurred to passengers since its construction. The sights in passing over the highest trestles and bridges are grand, and were it not for the pleasure of having a "look" from the highest points we would call it a dull ride.

Another grand feature of the road is the Bedford Springs, one of the most desirable summer resorts in the State, and perhaps in the Union. The waters are not so efficacious in restoring invalids to health as were they of the pool of Bethesda, but when enjoyed in connection with pure air and other advantages that the place affords, they have invigorated the mind and given health to the body when medical treatment failed. By the time of hot winds and long days the road will be completed to Bedford, which is in close proximity to the mundane paradise, and the health seeking and pleasure loving public will have all desirable facilities of reaching the modern Bethesda. Therefore we would say to the traveling public, if you wish to take a pleasant ride, enjoy beautiful scenery, having a successful hunting excursion, catch trout or take a bath in the Bedford Springs, get aboard the "Broad Top."—Critic.

Smoke Condenser.—A test experiment to condense smoke and utilize it for fuel was successfully made at Pittsburgh on Saturday last. The Commercial gives the following description of the test:

The invention certainly demonstrated to those present that coal (or slack, which was the article used) can be consumed as fuel without permitting the escape of a single particle of smoke. A small furnace about two and a half feet high and thirty inches square, was erected in front of an ordinary locomotive boiler, and so arranged that the fuel was wholly consumed in the furnace, and the heat and flame only conducted under the boiler, by means of a communicating flue. The furnace is provided with an ordinary fire bed of grate bars, but the front is all closed up except a small aperture, two inches wide by eight inches long, for the admission of air. The slack is supplied through a hopper, immediately over the fire bed, and combustion started by air which is admitted through the small opening already described. The gases in the coal are here set free, and start off with the draft towards the boiler. An opening is left in the top of the furnace, about midway between the hopper and boiler, through which a strong current of cold air is admitted. In the rough model, which we are now describing this opening is about eight inches square. The air, striking the flame and mixing with the gases, produces what the inventor calls "perfect combustion." A brilliant white flame is the result, so intense that no smoke or soot escapes unconsumed. The quantity of air admitted at this was regulated by placing a fire brick over the aperture, but in a properly constructed furnace the draft is regulated by dampers—The flame is of such dazzling brightness that it pains the eye, and compares with the sun itself in brilliancy. The heat is so intense that it cannot safely be applied under the boilers directly, but it can be so regulated that with its use the boilers will sustain much less injury than by the ordinary method of generating steam. The boiler used in this test was a fifteen horse power, and pressure of sixty pounds was maintained, the fuel used being at the rate of three bushels of slack in ten hours. The furnace, however can be so regulated as to produce as much or as little heat as may be required. By throwing open the furnace door of the boiler, and thus admitting an access of cold air, smoke will issue in about five seconds from the top of the stack, and cease in about the same time, after the door is closed. This experiment was tried a number of times to show how perfectly the apparatus worked. All present were greatly interested in the results, and seemed convinced that the invention could be applied satisfactorily in all our manufactories. It is to be hoped that Mr. McKenzie will have an opportunity to apply his furnace to some of the larger establishments, so that its practical workings may be more fully demonstrated.

From the Lumber Region.—Punxsutauney, Jefferson Co., Pa., May 3, 1871.—Messrs. J. R. Durborrow & Co.—Enclosed find check for two dollars for which send me your excellent paper one year.

A brief sketch of where we live and how we manage things may not be uninteresting to readers nearer the sun rise. Jefferson county is famous in remoter regions for the pine sticks and hemlock rafters and scantlings born from its bosom to the western marts on the Allegheny river and its tributaries. Now Punxsutauney is not least among the Boroughs of this famous Lumber County; it is situated in a beautiful valley on the big Mahoning Creek, about sixty miles from its mouth, and is surrounded on all sides by magnificent hills mostly under cultivation, and dotted over with suburban residences; some of them are very fine. Main street is the principal throughfare of business and on it are nine stores, four hotels, two saddleries, two shoe manufacturing establishments, attorneys' office, etc. The inhabitants are chiefly engaged in merchandizing and lumbering—it is estimated that there are 800 rafts within a few miles of the Borough at present besides immense quantities run out on the earliest rises. The prospects are flattering for the rail road to connect with the great Trunk via Reynoldsville and mouth of Mahoning within a year. This will thoroughly develop our immense lumber and mineral interests, and the time is not far distant when Punxsutauney will rank among the first highland Boroughs of the grand old Commonwealth. I had almost omitted to notice our own paper, the Punxsatauney Plaindealer, published weekly by W. P. Hastings. If you do not exchange you have been neglecting a rare opportunity for collecting general information respecting Jefferson county and, particularly, Punxsutauney. Yours, etc.,

James De-n.

Morrison's Cove.—A correspondent of the Hollidaysburg Standard is indignant at the newspaper press for calling the "Great Cove" or "Morrison's Cove" "Leather Cracker Cove;" and he proceeds to give a brief statement of facts. We some fifteen years ago, published a history of Leather Cracker, which, if resurrected, would settle its status. We will look it up. At the time of its publication it was a little unpopular, and the only wonder was that we escaped with a whole hide, but it was, nevertheless, very nearly correct. The Standard correspondent says:

Whilst "interviewing" several papers we noticed various articles, written by different persons, giving vent to their pent up imaginations in regard to this beautiful and fertile valley by terming it, vulgarly, "Leather Cracker Cove." This Cove, about which we write, was originally called the "Great Cove," and subsequently "Morrison's Cove," and was settled by Scotch-Irish as early as 1749.—"Morrison's Cove" commences at Pattonsville, in Bedford county, and terminates at Williamsburg, on the "Blue Juniata," in Blair county—bounded by Dunning's and Lock mountains on the west and Tussey mountain on the east—being about thirty miles in length and averaging six miles in width, containing an area of about two hundred square miles. It comprises six townships, viz: Woodberry, Huston, Taylor, and North, Middle and South Woodberries, the two latter lying in Bedford county. The name is familiar to every school boy within its limits, owing to the fact that the first permanent settler was one Morris, in whose honor the name was changed from "Great Cove" to "Morrison's Cove" about the year 1770.

It is true that a small portion of this great cove, lying in the south-eastern part, within the limits of Bedford county, containing an area of some two hundred acres, is called "Leather Cracker." It is bounded on the east by Tussey mountain, west by Mutton Ridge, the two approximating to a point at the southern end, (and right in here is "Ledder Knacker.") The origin of its name, as handed down from generation to generation, is as follows: In the happy days of yore—long gone, John, forever—when our grandfathers wore leather breeches, one of the first inhabitants, with gun on his shoulder, wended his way up the steep acclivities of the far-famed "Mutton Ridge" in search of deer. And having imbibed to freely of the "O be joyful," he wandered far from friend and home. During his peregrinations and perambulations among the cliffs and rocks, his feet slipped and he was precipitated into the abyss below—the result of which was a crack and—rent in his leather breeches, the air becoming noisome with foul perfume! Hence the name "Leather Cracker." Such being the origin of the name, and confined to so small a portion of this extensive valley, it seems unfair to apply the vulgar phrase to the whole area embraced within these picturesque mountains—the Alps of America.

Hoping that writers may profit by this communication, and in the future give its proper and significant title—"Morrison's Cove"—we remain yours truly.

Marklesburg Items.—The following items we clip from the Critic published at Marklesburg:

Our genial friend, Wm. Reed, is building a new residence on north side of Railroad street, immediately below Main. If we are to judge by the foundation he has laid, amount of lumber near at hand, and number of carpenters, masons, etc., already at work, we think it will be a first-class residence.

"Our young enterprising, and good looking friend, J. A. Reiffner, is erecting a neat and commodious building on the west side of Main street, lower end, to be used by him as a carriage and wagon manufactory. It promises to be a good building. We had predicted that Jim would be compelled to erect a cottage for his future comfort before other buildings.

"The amount of iron ore shipped from this, is, we are sorry to say, on the decrease. During the month of April only about four hundred tons of the red ore was shipped on the H. & B. T. The amount of yellow fossil shipped we are unable to give, as it is not weighed until after it leaves this place, but it will fully equal the amount of red ore. The decrease is all owing to a scarcity of operators, we are told, but at the present time the prospect for an immediate increase is encouraging.

The more enterprising portion of our citizens have gone to work with a spirit, that converts hamlets into flourishing towns. We believe it is not to much to say, that the foundation is now being laid for a town to outvie our older and sister boroughs in a business point of view. A house completed here, another begun there. A large and neat Lutheran church about completed, which does credit to the skill of our mechanics. Why not a hundred more going up? It is not the fault of capital or location, for we are favored with both here. An investment in this way will pay two-fold. A larger per centage than any other you could make, besides the extra value added to your lands, and lastly, the no little honor attached to the vanguard of such enterprising movements."

Wouldn't a hundred Lutheran churches be a little steep for Marklesburg? Do tell!

The Air Brake.—Its Adaptability to Freight Trains.—The Westinghouse air brake, for railway trains, which is now being so largely manufactured in this city, has long since demonstrated its utility and safety in passenger trains, but it has never yet been applied to freight trains. The demand for the brakes for the fitting out of passenger trains has been so pressing that the company has had no opportunity to experiment with freight cars. There is no question, however, that the apparatus will work as well, and prove as beneficial on the one class of cars as on the other. On Saturday some thirty passenger and baggage cars, belonging to the Pennsylvania Rail road Company, which had been supplied with the air brake, were collected into one train for the purpose of testing the effect of the brake on this number of cars. Seven cars is the number which usually make up the passenger trains, while the freight trains are much larger. Two engines were attached to the cars, as one was not sufficient to haul them up the grade towards East Liberty. Returning, only one engine was used, and at Millvale, where the train had attained a speed of thirty miles an hour, on a down grade of fifty-two feet to the mile, a stop was made in about seven hundred feet. This was regarded as highly satisfactory, compared with the hand brakes, but it is believed that much better results can be attained under more favorable circumstances. Arrangement will be made for a public test, in a short time, and railroad officials and others interested will be invited to witness it.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

As this is the season when Deeds for real estate are delivered more than any other time, we would advise vendees to have them recorded—not only the present deeds, but all unrecorded ones in the chain of title. It is not only a wise, but a kind provision of the law which permits the record of a deed to be read, without the production of the orignal—so that the prudent man who, by the investment of a few dollars, if his deed should be lost, mislaid, stolen, or perhaps it, with the house and all valuable papers burnt, is enabled to produce his title not only as good, but much better than if he had the original—unrecorded. A suit at law, recently in our courts, was ruled against two brothers because their deed was unrecorded—and a purchaser at a recent Sheriff's sale, was allowed to take the whole tract because a deed for a part honestly bought and paid for, was in ignorance of the law and policy, neglected to be handed to the Recorder. Let all parties record their deeds; let them examine those of their title papers which are not on record, and the sooner they place them there the better.

Lost a Finger.—An old gentleman an employee in Burchinell's Planing Mill, had one of his fingers injured by some of the machinery and it was amputed by Dr. Brumbaugh on last Tuesday morning. The machinery over there has been taking of a number of fingers—we expect to hear of it taking "whole hand" some of these days.

An Act to Prevent Trespassing on Railroad Cars.—The following is a copy of an act passed by the Legislature, the object of which is to put a stop to the too prevalent practice of jumping on cars while in motion, from which many fatal accidents have occurred. It is entitled an act to prevent trespassing on railroad cars:

Section. 1. Be it enacted, etc., That any person wilfully entering in or upon any railroad car, whether the same be passenger, freight, coal or other car, contrary to the rules of the corporation owning the same, without paying fare, shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not less than one dollar nor more than five dollars, which shall be paid to the treasurer of the school district in which such offense is committed, for the use of said school district; and any constable or police officer, having knowledge of the violation of this act, may forthwith arrest the offender; and the magistrate shall proceed to determine the matter in issue, and if he shall convict the person so charged he shall proceed to pronounce the forfeiture against the person convicted; and if the person convicted refuse to satisfy such forfeiture immediately, then the magistrate shall commit the offender to jail for a period not exceeding ten days: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent the prosecution and conviction of any person who may falsely personate another with a view of riding in any passenger car without payment of fare.

Nellie Love's New York Comique.—This Grand Combination gave their first entertainment at Yenter's Hall, last evening. The performance was far above anything of the kind that has been here for some time, and entirely free from that evil generally attending traveling company's (vulgarity.) Miss Nellie Love is an actress of rare accomplishments while as a vocalist and danseuse we should think she has but few equals. In the Burlesque of Brown amongst the Brahmins she astonished the audience by the rapidity of her changes of costume.

Mr. Alf. Stewart is a host of Wit and genuine Humor, his comic songs were loudly applauded.

Mr. Valentine Love as an Actor and Burlesque Artist deserves special mention, while the whole performance was of that laughable yet refined order that must please without offending.

They are accompanied by an able Band under the direction of Herr Doltz we would advise all our readers who wish to enjoy an evenings merriment to attend their last performance this evening.

General admission 35 cents. Reserved seats, 50 cents.

Decoration of Soldiers' Graves.—

On fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

THE THIRTIETH OF MAY

has been set apart as the day for the annual observance of the ceremony of Decorating Soldiers' Graves.

All the people of the Country are requestsd to participate in the exercises at

The Spring Elections.—We observe that some of our exchanges state that a bill has passed both houses re-establishing the spring elections. Such is not the fact. A bill passed the house to that effect but the Senate attached several odious political amendments to it, one of them especially affecting the elections in Luzerne county, in which the House refused to concur. The bill was then sent to a committee of conference; the committee had several meetings, but the Democrats adhering to their obnoxious amendments the bill hes in the hands of the committee, where it will no doubt remain, unless the Democrats abandon their rebellious course.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Fire.—On Thursday afternoon last the roof of Saxton's old warehouse, situate on Allegheny street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, took fire from the sparks of a passing locomotive, and for a little while burned rapidly, but the timely arrival and hard labor of quite a number of citizens, subdued the flames. The roof of the warehouse was considerably damaged, and a small hole burned in the roof of the adjoining building, also the property of Mr. Saxton.

Another New Counterfeit.—Peterson's Detector, just out, says there is in circulation a new counterfeit United States (green back) of the denomination of twenty dollars. This bogus bill purports to be of the issue of March 10, 1862. It is remarkably well executed bearing so close a resemblance of the genuine twenties as to have deceived good judges of paper money.

Gaylard Watson, of No. 16, Beekman street, New York, has published a new county and railroad map of the United States which gives better satisfaction than any thing of the kind we have ever seen in the map line. The agent for this county is C. H. Bingham, who will give our people an opportunity to examine and purchase it.

New Sheet Music.—We acknowledge the receipt of a piece of Music entitled Ruby Polka Waltz, composed by Miss L. M. N., of this place, in her twelfth year. It is pronounced, by competent judges, to be of decided merit. It can be had at the Book Stores of Wm. Lewis and J. C. Blair and the Music rooms of Dr. E. J. Greene. Price 35 cents.

Omnibuss Wanted.—A lady suggests that if some enterprising party were to take hold of a line of Omnibusses and run them between East and West Huntingdon and other points of interest in the neighborhood, it would pay handsomely. Let somebody try it.

To Nebraska, California, and Kansas, and the B. & M. R. R. Lands.—The "Burlington Route," so called, lies right in the path of the Star of Empire. It runs almost immediately in the center of the great westward movement of emigration. Crossing Illinois and Iowa, it strikes the Missouri river at three points.

These three points are the gateways into three great sections of the trans-Missouri region.

The Northern gate is Omaha, where the great Pacific road will take you to the land of gold and grapes, sunny mountains, and perpetual summer.

The middle gate is Plattsmouth, which opens upon the south half of Nebraska, south of the Platte river, a region unsurpassed on the continent for agriculture and grazing. Just here are the B. & M. Railroad lands, concerning Geo. S. Harris, the land officer at Burlington, Iowa, can give you all information, and in the heart of them is Lincoln, the State Capital and present terminus of the road.

The Southern gate leads to Kansas, by connections with the St. Joe Road at Hamburg, running direct to St. Joe and Kansas City.

The trains of the Burlington run smoothly and safely, and make all connections. It run the best of coaches, Pullman Palace and Pullman dining cars, and should you take the journey for the journey's sake alone, you will be repaid; or take it to find a home or a farm and you cannot find either better than among the B. & M. lands, where you can buy on ten years' credit, and at a low price. tf.

GREEN.—Near Saltillo, Huntingdon county, on May 2, 1871, Elienor, youngest daughter of William H. and Martha Green, aged 2 years, 9 months and 20 days.

Alas! how soon was that beautiful little temple riven, and emptied of its precious jewel the soul, from perfect health, only nine or ten hours was required for death to accomplish its sad and desolating work.

Weep not, dear friends, for this loved one. She is not lost—but gone before us. While she cannot come to you, you may join her in that happy land "where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at rest."

"Alas, how changed that lovely flower
Which bloomed and cheered our heart;
Fair, fleeting comfort of an hour,
How soon we're called to part.
Why should we reep our hearts or fast?
No more shall with us be;
Our souls will mount to her at last,
And then our child we'll see."

Sick Rooms---Decision and Quietness.

Consult your patient's wants, but consult him as little as possible. Your decision need not be very obvious and positive; you will be most decisive if no one suspects that you are so at all. It is the triumph of supremacy to become unconsciously supreme. Nowhere is this decision blessed than in a sick-room. Where it exists in its genuiness, the sufferer is never contradicted, never coerced; all little victories are assumed. The decisive nurse is never peremptory, never loud. She is distinct, it is true—their is nothing more aggravating to a sick person than a whisper—but she is not loud. Though quiet, however, she never makes gestures; all is open and above-board. She knows no diplomacy or finesse, and of course her shoes never creak. Her touch is steady and encouraging. She does not potter. She never looks at you sideways. You never catch her watching. She never slams the door, of course, but she never shuts it slowly, as if she were cracking a nut in the hinge. She never talks behind it. She never peeps. She pokes the fire skilfully, with firm, judicious penetration. She caresses one kind of patient with genuine sympathy; she talks to another as if he were well. She is never in a hurry. She is worth her weight in gold, and has a healthy prejudice against physic, which, however, she knows at the right time how to conceal.

How to Make Farm Life Attractive.

First—By less hard work. Farmers often undertake more than they can do well, and consequently work too early and too late.

Second—By more system. The farmers should have a time to begin and stop labor. They should put more mind and machinery into their work. They should theorize as well as practice, and let both go together. Farming is healthy, moral, and respectable, and in the long run may be made profitable. The farmers should keep good stock, and out of debt.

Third—By taking care of health. Farmers have a healthy variety of exercise but too often neglect cleanliness, eat irregularly and hurriedly, sleep in ill-ventilated apartments, and expose themselves needlessly to cold.

Fourth—By adorning the home. Books, papers, pictures, music, and readin should all be brought to bear upon the in-door family entertainments; and neatness and comfort, order, shrubbery, flowers and fruit, should harmonize all without. There would be fewer desertion of old homesteads if pains were taken to make them agreeable. Ease, order, health, and beauty are compatible with farm life, and were ordained to go with it.

Burns and Scalds.

Dr. Ferguson gives the following recipe, which he has tested in the severest cases of burning and scalding from railroad and steam-boat accidents with invariable success: Glycerine, five ounces; white of egg, four ounces; tincture of arnica, three ounces. Mix the glycerine and white of egg thoroughly in a mortar, and gradually add the arnica. Apply, freely on rags, night and morning, washing previously with warm castile soap suds. The celebrated English surgeon, Mr. Skey, reccommends the application of a solution of nitrate of silver in a proportionate strenght, varying from five to twelve or more grains to the ounce, according to the extent or sevreity of the burn and the age of the patient. The whole surface of the burn should be brushed over with the solution, cotton-wool applied, and a moderate opiate administered in a glass of brandy and water, proportioned to the age and habits of the patient, with the object of counteracting the sense of chilliness that will otherwise necessarily follow in all these cases.

To Revive Faded Black Clothes.

Boil three ounces of logwood in a quart of vinegar, and when the color is extracted, drop in a peice of carbonate of iron, the size of a large chestnut; let it boil five minutes. Have the articles to be restored well sponged with soap and hot water, laying them on the table, and brush the nap down with a sponge. Then take the dye upon the table and sponge them all over with it, taking care to keep them smooth and brush downward.

When completely wet with the dye, dissolve a teaspoonful of saleratus in a tea cup of warm water, and sponge over again with this, which sets the color so completely that nothing rubs off. They must not be wrung and wrinkled, but carefully hung up to drain. The brownest cloth may be made a perfect black in this simple manner. So many people have faded garments that this receipe may be of service in restoring them to a lively color.

The Best Site for an Orchard.

Dodart first observed that trees pushed their branches in a direction parallel to the surface of the earth. If a tree stands on a steep hillside, it pushes both toward the hill and the declivity; but on both sides it still preserves its branches parallel to the surface. The most fruitful orchards and most fertile trees are those planted on a declivity, and the steeper it is, though not quite a precipice, the more prolific they prove. It is well known that the spreading of trees always renders them fruitful. On a plane they incline to shoot upward, and therefore art is employed by skillful gardners, and applied in various ways, to check their lateral growth. But this point is obtained on a declivity by Nature.

LIMING and MARLING.—As soon as your corn and cat ground is plowed, if not already sown, it should receive a dressing of either of these; if the land requires it, twice the quantity of marl to that of lime and as before remarked, ten bushels at a time for each acre is sufficient for an application of lime, to be renewed in a year or two.

Spade or plow in a liberal dressing of manure between the rows of small fruits. It will pay in the increased quantity from the next crop.

Spring and the Sad Heart.

BY ED. A. GARRETT.

The Spring has come again, the bright Spring,
O hark, to the merry voices
Through the vales and the woodlands sweetly ring,
For everything now rejoices;
Glad to be free of the gloomy reign
Of the stern old Winter's hours,
And welcome the joyous Spring again,
With its sunshine and its flowers.

Oh, while all nature doth praise its God,
Of His life and love partaking;
E'en to the flower and grass of the sod,
In their bloom and beauty waking;—
Our own hearts fill with new hope and cheer,
As now each bright day discloses
That the happy Summer time is near,
With its wealth of "love and roses."

And thou, O sad heart, though darkness shrouds,
Thy life in its grief repining,—
Still, look above! for beyond the clouds
The sun is ever shining;
And let sweet hope in thy heart now sing,
While dark life's Winter around thee lowers;
Soon its gloom and storms must give place to Spring
With its sunshine and its flowers.

ST. PARIS, O., April, 1871.

The Family Altar.

There are few memories that are so fresh and powerful in after years, as the memories of the household altar. I can travel back over the path of forty years and recall the very tones of my father's voice, as he reverently read the Bible, and devoutly prayed, in the midst of his family. I can remember how he prayed for his children; how faithfully he taught them the lessons of Christian truth and duty in those thoughtless days of youth, and I bless his memory now for what I did not appreciate then. I believe that the memories of Christian parents and the early association of a Christian home, scarcely ever die out of the heart. Rev. Dr. Adams in his beautiful book on "Thanksgiving Memories," gives us the following incident: "In the Cathedral of Limerick there hangs a chime of bells, which was cast in Italy by an enthusiast in his trade, who fixed his home near the monastery where they were first hung, that he might daily enjoy their sweet and solemn music. In some political revolution the bells were taken away to a distant land, and their maker himself became a refugee and exile. His wanderings brought him, after many years, to Ireland. On a calm and beautiful evening, as the vessel which bore him floated on the placid bosom of the Shannon, suddenly the evening chimes pealed from the cathedral towers. His practiced ear caught the sweet sound, and he knew that his lost treasures were found. His early home, his old friends, his beloved native land, all the best associations of his life were in those sounds. He laid himself back in the boat, crossed his arms upon his breast, and listened to the music. The boat reached the wharf, but still he lay there, silent and motionless. They spoke to him, but he did not answer. They went to him, but his spirit had fled. The tide of memories that came vibrating through his heart at that well-known chime, had snapped its strings!"

And so, sometimes, in after life, when the feet of some wayward man have strayed far away from the home of his youth and his heart has wandered far from his father's God, some memory of the past like the sweet, sad melody of the evening chime may wake long slumbering echoes and stir long sealed fountains; and a father's counsel and a mother's prayers will come up again from the sacred burial places of the past with wondrous power to melt and win the wayward heart.

Yes, a family ought to be a little church of Jesus Christ. The father should be its pastor, conducting its daily worship and leading the dear circle in the way of truth and duty. Every tie which binds one living heart to another, should be made stronger and more tender by the influence of a common tie to Jesus. Such a household will have a happy home. Their circumstances may be humble, and their lot may be lowly, but if they have Christ in the family, there will always be sunshine and peace. That house cannot secure the highest domestic joy, which, like the inn at Bethlehem, has no room for Jesus.—Rev. Dr. Rogers.

The Best Mirror.

How natural it is for some persons to stand hour after hour before the mirror that hangs by the wall and ornament their bodies to such a degree that they fall in love with themselves, and begin to think in their hearts, "O how beautiful!" Now the very best mirror I heartily recommend to such people is the Bible. For if they daily stand before this looking-glass they will turn away from it wiser and better men and women. Are you a formalist? Look into this and see your deficiency.—Are you a sectarian? Look and read. "Let brotherly love continue." Are you a dunkard, swearer, or Sabbath-breaker? Look into this mirror and you are condemned. Are you a willing slave to fashion? "The fashion of the world passeth away." And no matter who you are, or how sinful this excellent gospel mirror will just show you your true character.—Hence, dear readers, stand constantly before this matchless glass, and never grow tired adorning yourselves with the beautiful gems of holiness and love.

Remember the more you prayerfully look into the looking-glass, the more holy you will become; and it is a great deal better to inspect yourself thoroughly on earth than to appear speechless before that God whose penetrating eye will discern the smallest sin spot upon your soul. O! we beseech you to prize this Golden Mirror highly; hang it up in your best room; take it with you where you go; and above all things look into it often, and prayerfully, that you may be a "living epistle, known and read of all men."—Methodist Recorder.

REMISSION:—How may we obtain remission of our sins? Paul answereth, "that the man which is called Jesus Christ, the Son of God hath given Himself for them." These excellent and comfortable words are Promises of the old law that our sins are taken away by no other means than by the Son of God delivered unto death. With such gunshot and such artillery must the Papacity be destroyed, and all the religions of the heathen, all works, all merits and superstitious ceremonies. If our sins may be taken away by our works, merits and satisfactions, what need the Son of God be given for them? But seeing He was given for them, it followeth that we cannot put them away by our own works.—Luther.

THE STATE JOURNAL.

THE WEEKLY STATE JOURNAL

Was established at Harrisburg to supply a want long felt in all parts of the State. No effort will be spared to make it an acceptable weekly visitor to the intelligent families of Pennsylvania. It will be devoted to Independent Journalism, will defend and advocate the rights and interests of the people and will assist every effort to advance the religious educational, moral and social condition of humanity. So long as the Republican party continues to be, as it now is, more than any other political organization, the enactor and defender of liberal and impartial laws, the protector of American Labor, the promotor of American Manufactures, and the leader in all great reforms, the Journal will advocate its principles and defend its policies.

The mining and manufacturing interests of the State, and the rights of the laboring men employed therein, shall always find favor in these columns. National and State measures proposed and enacted for the protection of American industry will ever be urged, advocated, and defended. The latest news, political, commercial, agricultural and social from all parts of the world, will be published weekly.

The proceedings of the Legislature throughout the session will be reported fully and promptly, so that the readers of the Journal may know what is transpiring at the State Capital. The Weekly Journal, like the Daily, is a first-class newspaper, thoroughly sound in politics, education, temperance and religion. It is a good agricultural paper, a good educational paper, a good temperance paper, a good religious paper, a good family newspaper.

The Journal is published by the "Harrisburg Printing Association," a corporation chartered by the Legislature, and composed of gentlemen of ample means, whose sole purpose is to publish a first class newspaper for Pennsylvania. The best talent and the ablest writers have been employed to conduct the affairs, and contribute to the columns of The Journal.

THE KIDNEYS.

The Kidneys are two in number, situated at the upper part of the lion, surrounded by fat, and consisting of three parts, viz: the Anterior, the Interior, and the Exterior.

The anterior absorbs. Interior consists of tisues or veins, which serve as a deposit for the urine and convey it to the exterior. The exterior is a conductor also, terminating in a single tube, and called the Ureter. The ureters are connected with the bladder.

The bladder is composed of various coverings or tissues, divided into parts, viz: the Upper, the Lower, the Nervous and the Mucous. The upper expels, the lower retains. Many have a desire to urinate without the ability; others urinate without the ability to retain. This frequently occurs in children.

To cure these affections, we must bring into action the muscles, which are engaged in their various functions. If they are neglected, Gravel or Dropsy may ensue.

The reader must also be made aware, that however slight may be the attack, it is sure to effect the bodily health and mental powers, as our flesh and blood are supported from these sources.

GOUT, OR RHEUMATISM.—Pain occurring in the loins is indicative of the above diseases. They occur in persons disposed to acid stomach and chalky concretions.

THE GRAVEL.—The gravel ensues from neglect or improper treatment of the kidneys. These organs being weak, the water is not expelled from the bladder, but allowed to remain; it becomes feverish, and sediment forms. It is from this deposit that the stone is formed, and gravel ensues.

DROPSY is a collection of water in some parts of the body, and bears different names, according to the parts affected, viz: when generally diffused over the body, it is called Anasarca; when of the abdomen, Ascites; when of the chest, Hydrothorax.

TREATMENT.—Helmbold's highly concentrated compound Extract Buchu is decidedly one of the best remedies for diseases of the bladder, kidneys, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatism and gout affections. Under this head we have arranged Dysuria, or difficulty and pain in passing water, Scanty Secretion, or small and frequent discharges of water; Strangury, or stopping of water; Hematuria, or bloody urine; Gout and Rheumatism of the kidneys, without any change in quantity, but increase in color, or dark water. It was always highly recommendee by the late Dr. Physick, in these affections.

This medicine increases the power of digestion, and excites the absorbents into healty exercise by which the watery or calcareous depositions, and all unnatural enlargements, as well as pain and inflammation, are reduced, and it is taken by men, women and children. Directions for use and diet accompany,

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 25, 1867.

H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist:

Dear Sir:—I have been a sufferer, for upward of twenty years, with gravel bladder and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and have been under the treatment of the most eminent Physicians, experiencing little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted with my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised remedies, and had found them worthless, and, some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of buchu, cubebs and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination, and, with his advice after an examination of the article and consulting again with the druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced its use about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room. From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks, was able to walk out. I felt much like writing you a full statement of my case at that time, but thought my improvement might only be a temporary, and therefore concluded to defer and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing then it would be of greater value to you, and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months.

I have not used any now for three months, and fell as well in all respects, as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor—a nice tonic and invigorator of the system. I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.
